The essay contains a central idea that may not be completely clear and focused; the central idea also may not be completely effective in addressing the demands of the prompt, fulfilling the writing purpose, or appropriately engaging the audience.

Development

Use facts, definitions, and information from other sources to support and develop your central idea about the issue or topic.

The essay develops the central idea with highly significant, well-chosen, relevant facts, extended definitions, concrete examples, quotations, etc. that thoroughly address the audience's understanding of the topic in a logical and reasonable way.

The essay develops the central idea with the most significant, well-chosen, relevant facts, extended definitions, concrete examples, quotations, etc. that address the audience's understanding of the topic sufficiently.

The essay develops the central idea with well-chosen, relevant, and sufficient facts, extended definitions, concrete examples, quotations, etc. that address the audience's understanding of the topic.

The essay develops a central idea with facts, definitions, examples, quotations, etc. The writing may not feature details that sufficiently develop the central idea or may incorporate details that are not well-chosen, generally addressing the audience's understanding of the topic.

Organization

Include an engaging introduction and strong conclusion. Use transitions throughout the essay to make connections clear.

The essay uses an organizational structure where each new element builds to create a unified whole. The structure enhances and develops the central idea with appropriate, varied transitions that show relationships between and among complex details. The structure also helps to make important connections and distinctions between ideas, linking major sections of the text and creating a clear sense of cohesion throughout. The essay has an engaging introductory paragraph, as well as a thoughtful concluding statement/paragraph that follows from and supports ideas presented.
