Performance update

In our endeavour to improve the performance of EasyCruit, we attempted to release an improvement two weeks ago which was unsuccessful and had to be rolled back. Although it had been tested successfully, its design did not allow it to work with the full load of the system.

We have since undertaken technical analysis which has identified new avenues for improvement. These improvements range from updating elements of our environment to reworking the way the system queries data in some instances. We will be preparing and releasing these improvements in the coming weeks and months as and when each one is ready.

In the meantime we have continued to increase the capacity of our servers and have also ensured that the system is not receiving too many queries by restricting the 'search' button to only be clicked once at a time. Although this does not address the root causes of the low-speed sporadically affecting your experience, it prevents it from happening over extended periods of time.

As usual we will be in touch with you when maintenance happens, and communicate to you regularly as our efforts come to fruition.

Did you know?

- ✓ EasyCruit offers Portable CV functionality making it easier for candidates to apply to jobs
- ✓ You can re-use a completed vacancy to save you time in creating a similar one in future, or to re-publish it.

Our customer success team can activate this for you and show you how this works.

Kind regards,

EasyCruit Customer Success Team
