Features Included in this Release

- ◆ Improved department filter field on Vacancy List page
  - This field now also enables you to type letters within the department name to shortlist the department filter dropdown, making it quicker and easier for customers with a large list of departments to find and select the department they need. You can still scroll the list and select the department as you could previously.
  - For example if you type in 'market' a shortened list of departments with the string 'market' is available to select from.

- ◆ The date picker for 'Application deadline' and 'Application start date' on Create Vacancy / Advertisement is displayed in localised language and in a date format for that language based on the language selected for the job advertisement. The following languages have been updated in this release. Job adverts with a language not in the following list will see the 'English GB' format. Note that you can still free text type into the field manually if you don't want to use the date picker, or to modify the format.
