Saving Lives.

Using agile and design-focused operational principles and data-driven change, Jefferson Health reduces patient wait times, treats more patients, and decreases time to treatment.

Neil Gomes | Jefferson Health

“By immersing ourselves in the solution environment, we targeted real problems to catalyze and effect real change. We used Domo to deliver rapid data visualization and enable performance tracking, data-focused change agents, and a quick and easy way to tell the data story. Once clinicians saw their own numbers—real data they could influence—things changed.”

Operational Rx for Change

- Design is how it works. Focus on design
- Immerse yourself: discover real problems and devise real, enduring solutions.
- Develop using agile and lean startup principles.
- Close the loop: bolster great solutions with great training, documentation, and support.
- Measure before and after implementation. It will help you celebrate change.
- Use data to enable learning and bring about change across your organization.

Results.

- Left without being seen (LWBS) rate:
 - Reduced from 4.6% to .08%
- Average time to see a physician:
 - Reduced by 23.9 minutes.
- Chemo insurance authorization:
 - Reduced from 22 days to 5 days

IT as a change agent, not a cost center.

Using data-driven operational best practices and the Domo platform, you can bring about transformational change.
