Public Training

Need a few team members trained? Attend one of Domo University's public courses to help accelerate onboarding and adoption.

LET THE EXPERTS GET YOU THERE FASTER.

What is Public Training?

Domo University regularly offers Public Training courses at its headquarters in American Fork, Utah, and in other cities around the globe. These courses allow you time to participate in a hands-on environment building solutions in Domo under the guidance of an expert Domo University trainer.

What can you expect with Public Training?

One of the benefits of attending a Domo University public course is learning about how diverse Domo users from around the country solve business problems using Domo. For courses in American Fork, a lunchtime Brilliance Bar is also offered where you can ask Domo Support specific questions about your implementation and use of Domo. Additionally, Domo leaders from Product and other areas present to students to ensure they understand the "why" behind what they use daily in Domo.

Which courses does Domo University offer?

- New User: Domo Basics
- New User: Card Building
- New User: Connect and Transform
- Power User: Data Manipulation
- MajorDomo: Managing Domo
- Domo Immersion Training

What does Public Training cost?

- $650 per student per training day
